Women body acceptance

I want to show the naturalness and beauty of the female body in women of different age. My idea is a series of photographs that focuses on parts of the female body.

Do women accept their bodies?

My target group are mainly women because it mainly concerns them. This topic is important because most of the women don't like their bodies and I want to show the background of this problem. The main goal of my diploma is to show that every woman in every age is beautiful despite what is considered pretty in society.

Best shots from the project

„I think that my project raises an important problem and I want to provoke recipients to think about it“

The role of the body in the work of Alina Szapocznikow, Natalia LL nad Katarzyna Kozyra

My target group are mainly women because it mainly concerns them. I would like young women to see through my project that overweight or sagging skin is not a reason for not accepting themselves. It is also important for me to show it to men who often have in their head a false, perfect picture of women.

inspirations

I am most inspired by photographers – Carola Guerrero and Anastasia Lisitsyna who show the naturalness of the female body.

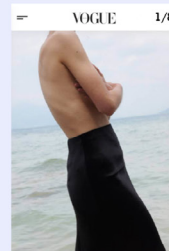

In my artistic projects I am interested in the naturalness of the human body and its diversity in every human being. I focus primarily on photography. Studies in the New Media Department gave me the opportunity to acquire skills. I had the opportunity to take part in the Erasmus scholarship and went to Italy to study in Academy of Fine Arts. Under the wings of professor Avesani I conceptualized the main ideas behind my work and that photography would be my medium. Cooperation with various fashion brands enabled me to master the workshop.

In 2019 my summer photo campaign for the MOYE brand was published in Polish Vogue. I also had two exhibitions at which I showed selected pictures. One of them took place in 2018 and the other in 2019 at 27 Francuska Street. In my photos I show above all naturalness and authenticity. Mostly my models are women and I focus my creative attention on them. At the moment I am doing photo orders for portfolio for actors and fashion brands. In addition to photography I also create illustrations to sell on my own or when someone order one.
